

9.03.2010

"The Central Banks and Globalisation" online

The latest work by Groupama Asset Management's research team now available in english !

How can the markets and those who are responsible for them be regulated?

This seventh edition of the "Expertise" collection is the result of reflection and analysis undertaken over several years within Groupama Asset Management by Michel Aglietta, professor at the University of Paris-Ouest and economic advisor at Groupama Asset Management, Laurent Berrebi, chief economist at Groupama Asset Management and manager in charge of this publication, and Audrey Cohen, econometrician within the economists team.

The authors, being closely involved with the debate on the reform of financial regulation, demonstrate that price stability, economic growth and financial stability do not necessarily go hand-in-hand and that the rapid growth in the financial markets and in globalisation necessitates a review of economic governance.

Read the results of the latest work carried out by Groupama AM's research team: The Central banks and globalisation